

This Man Gives Disabled Dogs the Chance to Run Again With the Help of Homemade Doggy Wheelchairs (VIDEO)

521 TOTAL SHARES

Kate Good

March 12, 2015

As a dog lover, there is no question that you would do anything to ensure that your pup has the best life possible. We spend hours reading through dog food ingredients to make sure we're not giving them anything that could make them sick. Our cars are stocked with spare toys, leashes and transportable doggy water bowls. When people ask you if you have a favorite child, of course you say "no," but secretly there is no questioning that your dog will always hold that position (sorry, little humans).

This wonderful Serbian dog lover went above and beyond to help his pup, Mika, get a new lease on life. Mika was paralyzed after being involved in a traffic accident and could no longer use his back legs. So, Dragan Dmitrovic got to work building Mika a wheelchair to help him get around. Thanks to his kind guardian, Mika can now run and play just as he used to.

Now, Dmitrovic has started a small business to help other dogs in need by making them custom wheelchairs, just like Mika's. That's a true dog lover!

Browse through some recent posts below:

Miley Cyrus Went Vegan a Year Ago and Now She's Telling the World

Want to be Featured on One Green Planet? Share Your Original Vegan Recipes!

Baby Koala Hugs Mom to Help Her Through Life-Saving Surgery (PHOTOS)

These Photos of Zen Dogs Will Totally Bliss Out Your Day

CLICK TO READ MORE